THE DEFENSES OF

There Are Many Weak Ports on the North Coast.

MOUNTING ANCIENT ORDNANCE

Great Reliance Is Placed on the Submarine Mines and Torpedoe Which Are Being Hurriedly Installed-San Sebastian and Ferrol Protected by Strong Forts.

Madrid, Spain, July 25.-The fortifies tions of the north and west coasts of in the main are ancient and inefficient. But in many of the ports mine and torpedoes have been planted recently, which are supposed to provide thor ough defense against the dreaded Amer-

At the mouth of the Bidasson River, at the French Pyrenean frontier, there is a strong new fort on the crest of the hill behind Fuenterrabia whose guns command the mouth of the river and seawards could give a nasty salute.

The inland bay at Passages, a very im portant outlet for the wine and ore trade to France and Belgium, lies next to the It is not fortified, though on or near its banks are important wine depots, railway stations, and mills situated at Passages, Reuteria and Hezo. Next is San Sebastian, the Spanish Newport, a fashionable summer resort for both Spaniards and foreigners during the bull fighting season in August. It contains the summer palace of the Queen. San Sebastian has the strongest fortifications in the north of Spain-the Citadel San Maurus and Choritoquita, on in accessible heights some four miles outside San Sebastian, whose guns sweep Passages Bay and the Urunnes Valley of both sides of San Sebastian City and bay The fortifications in San Sebastian itself, including the old Monte Urgul Citadel and the Damas Battery at the left en-trance to the bay, are old-fashioned, worthless defenses, now undergoing somover 3,000 tons.

The approaches to the mouth of the river will soon be in a strong condition to repel sea attacks. Batteries are nearly complete on Mount Serantes, above Por-tugalite and Santurce, which will cross fire with the other works near Aigorta, a headland on the left of the mouth of the Hervion. Artillery and engineers are actively pushing these works, which will have Krupp and Ordonez guns. The Bilbon garrison is 4,000 strong.

The port is the chief outlet of the iron trade to England (3,000,000 tons a year), and to Germany, Belgium and France. Further along the coast westward are old forts at Carbro Urdiales, Larido and Santona, a splendid bay, where there is an old citadel and convict station, and where new works are in progress. The next place on the coast is the port of Santander, also with a magnificent bay and anchorage; a city shorn of its importance through the decay of its trade with the Antilles. Sam ander will be well defended. If the works now in progress can be completed in time, and the engineers say they will. An artiflery regiment, 1,000 strong, has arrived with forty heavy guns ready to be

Both headlands are to have batteries crossing fire, and submarine defenses are being laid to protect this important harbor, where the mail steamers from Cuba go in and out, and where the French and English transatiantic and Pacific liners stop both ways. The wheat and ore trade of Santander is im-

The weakness of Santander lies in its position on a promontory between the ay and the sea beaches of Sandiner where a landing could be made and the defenses taken in the rear. The garri-son has about 2.50 men. Santander, like Bilboa, has enthus astically assisted the government with money defenses, and is forming local volunteer corps, drilled, clothed and equipped at the ex-pense of the local corporations. Further west are a number of small ports, fishing villages and estuaries of rivers that have, like every river in Spain, from Bidassoa to Cape Finisterre, shift-ing sand bars and shallow waters at the mouth, making navigation dangerou without pilots. Charts and ordinary in dications would not serve much just now, as no lighthouse shows a light at night, the buoys have been removed, and everything has been taken away that could assist the foe. At the extreme northwest is the prov-ince of Galicia, with rugged, indented, picturesque rocks, dangerous coasts of evil fame for mariners or all countries, because there, even more than on the coasts of Biscay and Asturias, storms are possible, fogs thick, squalls sudden, and the northeast and northwest winds

The coast of Galicia around Finistern The coast of Galicia around Finisterre has been a very necropolis for vessels of all nations. Every fishing village has numerous crosses and mounments raised to the memory of foreigners washed ashore dead or dying on this inhospituable coast in the dreaded nights when even the hardy, daring scafaring population of such regions never dream of rescue.

in Galicia there are many bays and estuaries where the English and French squadrons spend a pleasant time in their annual cruises, their officers angling and boating up the "rios" of Galicia or the fine bays of Vigo. Arosa and Villagaria. It is the boast of Spain just now that all these peaceful resorts of trade and holiday seekers will soon be bristling with fortifications, guns, troops and torpedoes, but a fortnight's notice in a land where so many things are wont to be put where so many things are wont to be put off to the morrow seems a short space for preparing such a warm reception for the "Yankee Armada." Civic Federation to Discuss the Possibilities of America.

GENERAL INTEREST SHOWN

The Call to the National Confe Month Is Signed by Over a Thou sand Representative Men, Regardless of Party Affiliations.

Over 1,000 repres ca have signed the call of the civic federation for a national conference to be held at Saratoga, N. Y., August 19 and 20, to discuss the future foreign policy of the United States. The call follows:

"The undersigned deem it desirable that a national conference be convened at an early day to consider the future foreign policy of the United States. The war with Spain gives promise of the everthrow of Spanish power in Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines and the other of the country's colonial possessions when peace is reached is none too so in engaging the thought of our people.

"This question impresses us as being one of the most serious the American people have had to consider. It is a new uestion and one upon which heretofore very little thought has been given by the great majority of the people.

"Whether the foreign policy of the fathers' should be adhered to or departed from is enough to challenge the most thoughtful men. In our opinion, serious consideration of our ablest and this conference should be composed of the country, withmen from all parts of the country, with out regard to party affiliation, and irre-spective of whether they are for or against a policy of territorial expansion. and men whose ability, position and character entitle their opinions to the respectful consideration of the people." The circular letter sent out by Chairman Henry Wade Rogers and Secretary Raiph M. Easley, asking for signatures stated that neither the genesis nor con-duct of the war would be discussed, nor any political cast be given the proceed-The responses were prompt and en-

DETECTIVE WEEDON RETURNS.

He Says the Springfield Suspect Re-sembles Funk. Detective Weedon, Mr. Harry Gíven, o the district attorney's office and Miss Brooks returned this morning from pringfield, Ill., where they went to bring back to Washington the man under ar rest there supposed to be Frank Funk. As already announced in the Times, the prisoner proved not to be Funk, the illeged murderer of William Brooks, He is, however, very much like the man wanted in this city. He was arrested by a policeman at Collinsville, When searched two casped hands were seen tattood on his arm in the same place as indicated in the circular describing Funk. A closer examination revesied a similarity in feat-ures. He also had severar moles on his body.

Detective Weedon said today that the prisoner answered the general description of Funk. He had the same facial expression, same features and same colored and was present when Miss Brooks de clared that the suspect was not Funk. Inspector Mattingly and the police de partment have not given up the hope of

THE TELEPHONE DISPUTE.

Joseph P. Roth Seeks an Injunction Against the Company.

934 Louislana Avenue, instituted injunction proceedings today against the Chesa peake and Potomac Telephone Company to enjoin it from removing its telephone instruments and appliances from his place of business

In his complaint Mr. Roth recites in de tail the terms of his former contract with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, and alleges that he notified the officers of his desire to terminate the old and enter into a new agreement under the erms of the act of Congress, of June 30, 1898. He also states that he tendered the telephone company $12.59, the amount required by law, for the rental of a sin-gle instrument for a period of three months, but that the company refused the money and threatened to remove its instrument from his premises.

performance in the work or the marines n Cuba. There has always been opposition to the rifle, and its indorsement under practical conditions is very gratifying to those who have favored the weapon. It has been found that with a slight change in the mechanism of the gun it will be an excellent service weapon on account of its accuracy and its ficing rapidity. The small caliber of the rifle per-Wireworkers' Wages Reduced. Chicago, July 25.-The American Wire and Steel Company, with offices in tals city, has submitted a new schedule of wages to the employes of its Anderson, Ind., mills, and has closed the mills down until the men accept. The new scale amounts practically to a reduction, though the officials claim new machinery will keep the wages at the same level. The change does not affect the rod mill, according to Secretary Buffington, of the company. The company operates thirteen mills situated at De Kalb and Joliet, iti.

place the men with others, at least for a time. Two hundred and fifty employes are affected. New York, July 25.-The United States steamer Missourl arrived here from Philadelphia this morning. She is one of the Atlantic fransport liners recently purchased by the Government. It is designed to fit her up for an ambulance ship to transfer the sick and wounded. About 100 workmen from Brooklyn are on board having been sent by train to Philadelphia
